“The Italian Mentor” showcases Italian innovation and style in different fields—from fashion to food, wine and furniture, featuring iconic Italian brands known and loved both in Italy and abroad. Each episode has a different theme and the series will start out this December 2017. The show is hosted by Gabriella Carlucci, a familiar face on Italian TV, featured in some of the most important Italian channels. Gabriella interviews her guests and explores the subjects in detail, also showing the origin of that particular product going back to where it was born, and all of its producing development.
